A Custom Disregarded.

There came up for hearing yesterday morning in the probate division of the Supreme Court, before Mr Justice McCully, an application filed by one named Ah Kui praying to be appointed guardian of a young girl named Chung Moy, aged about 15 years. The respondent in the matter was William White, of Hilo, Hawaii, whose right of custody of the girl was asked to be ruled upon by the Court. At the hearing it transpired that the minor was born in China, that when two or three years old she was bought, according to a custom in China, by petitioner from the parents of Chung Moy, for the purpose of marrying her with one Ah Nee, son of petitioner. That in February of last year, in Hilo, Ah Kui the petitioner, thinking that the girl was of the proper age to be the wife of his son, performed the marriage ceremony a la Chinese, that of feasting, etc., which act if done in China is considered by the parties as consummating the contract of engagement entered into by the parents of the marrying couple. The respondent stated in explanation of his custody of the girl that Ah Nee, the pretended husband, had sued the minor for deserting him in the Police Court of Hilo, that he defended her in said Court and gained for her a release from Ah Nee, ever since which time Chung Moy preferred to and has lived in the family of White, whose wife had taken quite a liking to her.

His Honor, after perusing the evidence had at the Hilo trial, said that the pretended marriage is no marriage under the laws of this Kingdom, and therefore dismissed the application. Ah Nee, who was present, renounced all claims to the girl and stated that the petitioner was his father.

Upon the nomination of Chung Moy, the Court appointed said William White guardian of her person under a bond of $100. A. Rosa for petitioner; J. M. Poepe for respondent.

After the disposition of the case as reported above the petitioner, Ah Kui, filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus to get possession of the girl.

Fire this Morning.

At one o'clock this morning a telephone message was received at this office, stating that the Union Dairy, Palama, was on fire. A few minutes later it was learned that the fire, which was in the dairy stables, had been got under control by Mr. J. W. Hingley with buckets of water. The premises are occupied by Mr. Graham, manager of the dairy, who was probably out on his milk route. The fire was discovered by Mrs. D.
